

INT. CORPORATE BOARDROOM - DAY

A young man JOHNSON in business attire comes into a boardroom with 3 CEO types to make the "presentation of his career." He is nervous to make a good impression on the big bosses. His presentation is the concept of the next Shorts Contest theme.. Mini-Musicals.

He stands in front of the 3 CEO's all seated at the end of the boardroom table and begins his presentation.

JOHNSON

(spoken nervously)

Thank you for this opportunity to present our next Shorts Contest theme. The team thought filmmakers could submit 3 minute mini-musicals.

Johnson nervously looks to the CEO's for a reaction.

With stoic looks the CEO's begin to sing one at a time.

HEAD CEO

(sung)

Contest for filming..

Everyone including Johnson exchange glances surprised by the singing.

CEO1

(sung)

Contest for shooting..

CEO2

(sung)

Contest for mu-si-cals...

Johnson dims the lights and turns on a computer projector that displays the 360|365 logo creating a spotlight effect as if he were onstage. All four begin to sing in 4 part harmony standing in-line with choreographed barbershop moves like they are on stage together.

The song is sung to the tune of "Hello My Baby."

ALL

(sung)

Contest for filming..
Contest for shooting..
Contest for Mu-si-cals..

Send us a film by wire.
Musicals will transpire.

If you refuse it.
A Thousand, you'll lose it.
Less than 3 min-utes long.

Oh baby, sing a song
And upload to YouTube now.

The lights return to normal - the CEO's have returned to their seats with expressionless faces.

HEAD CEO

(spoken)

Excellent idea Johnson, have it on my desk by March 31st.
